REPEAT

"Fais Do Do" (rhymes with PLAY-DOH DOH) literally translates from French into "Go to sleep". But for Louisiana's Cajun population, it means much more. A Fais Do Do is an all-night dance party, usually held in someone's home. In the wee hours, the young children, sitting under the kitchen table, out of the way of the dancing feet, are fighting their eyelids to stay awake, not wanting to miss any of the fun. Mawmaw encourages them to relax and go to sleep with a gentle "Fais do do, mon bébé" ("Go to sleep, my baby"). The grownups continue to party until the morning light.

Mary Chapin Carpenter mentions such a party in Down At The Twist And Shout ("You learned to love at the Fais Do Do when you heard a little Jolie Blon".) Scooter Lee also mentions it in Jai du Boogie ("They got music and dancing southern style, called a Fais Do Do, let's go for a while").

By the way, Jolie Blon is the title of a beautiful waltz that is intricately tied into the Cajun culture. Many Cajun couples have fallen in love to the beautiful, sad lyrics and haunting melody. It is practically the official Cajun Anthem.
