RESTART

On the 5th wall, dance up until count 28, and then you need to add an '&' count to step left beside right so you can restart with the right foot. You will be facing the back wall when you restart the dance

John berry also has a version (very pretty but a little slower) but the phrasing is different, so if you use that, the 4th wall would be 16 counts where you step together instead of crossing on count 16, then restart. The restart on the following (5th) wall remains the same as for the other versions.
